Pictures really are worth 1,000 words. If you have a photo you would like to share on the web, Twitter or to accompany a press release, please be sure to send me the image in ACTUAL SIZE. This ensures that the image will render as clear as possible in all formats, including print. If the DPI (dots per inch) are not high enough, the image will not work. See the correct selection on the screenshot of an iPhone below.